Playing With Fire

There is a tendency in governmental cents above. circles to take deficit spending by government lightly and to believe that the solution is just a matter of raising the public debt limit.

This country has been so concerned with its own problems of finance that it has had little time to observe the trials and tribulations of Canada. Public financing and manipulation of the dollar by the Canadian government has caused Canada to face a monetary crisis of major proportions which in many ways dwarf the financial troubles of the United States.

The financial crisis of Canada came to a head when the government chose to lower the value of its dollar by purchasing U.S. currency and expanding the nation's reserves on the theory that it would discourage imports and encourage capitol and industrial growth. Apparently something was started by this devaluation of the Canadian dollar that couldnt' be stopped. Canadians started transferring their savings out of the country and the Canadian dollar has devaluated to five cents below the American dollar from a former five

The deliberate devaluation of the Canadian dollar was really only a small portion of the pressures behind its decline. As Barron's Financial Weekly said, ". . . the erosion of the Canadian dollar is less the cause of the country's woes than a symptom of an even more deep-seated malady . . . the easy-money, something-for-everyone technique that is all too familiar in the U.S.," is given as the principle cause of Canada's trou-

Also overindulgence in deficit financing and the avoidance of any thought of balancing the budget. Barron's added, "Not content with an extensive welfare program, the government, for example, with a view to elections later this year, recently pushed through Commons legislation which will increase the annual outlay for pensions by some $133 million a year. Characteristically, no provision was made for raising compensating

Some of these Americans are institutions such as colleges and universities or mutual funds of a company is on less uncertain that have invested their funds ground, in these industries and therelarger indirectly.

It is ridiculous for the newfangled economists to say that there is no relation between the stock market and the economy. When the market tumbles, the immediate effect is lack of confidence. So-called smart people become liquid, that is, they sell their stocks and bonds and hold on to their cash, hoping to recoup by buying at lower prices.

The rebound may be very slow. Those why buy on margin to cover and if they cannot, their losses may be so great that their private economic situation becomes hopeless. The very rich recoup more quickly by buying preferred European securities, or by purchasing real estate under certain circumstances, or jewels or works of art. Those who are not well off cannot do that. They must take their loss and suffer.

What is a share worth? There company and those who purtors. An investor who buys in the hope that the enterprise will grow is on sounder ground or one who buys a stock that sells at about 10 times the earnings

But when the buyer loses his fore the number affected is money, there are no excuses that can be made to him. He translates his misfortune into an opposition to those who caused a general loss of confidence. And loss of confidence is the only reason why there is a general fall of stock prices. There is either loss of confidence in the economy, in the Administration or in international relations.

I have now asked over 100 persons, some of them economic majors, if they knew Gresham's Law. The answer for those unget telephone calls, asking them der 30 is generally that they never heard of it. The significance of the reply is not that they do not know that bad money drives out good money; it is rather that they do not have a "feel" for money such as a small dealer must have if he is not to go out of business. Money is a curious catalyst. Fed on confidenace, it grows and makes everything about it grow; not fed on confidence, it becomes like an acid which makes everyare as many opinions as there thing about it shrivel. The misare buyers and sellers. Certain- er, for instance, lacks confidence ly no share of stock is worth in the catalytic powers of mon-

Nearly 16,000,000 Americans 100 times the earnings of the ey and therefore does nothing with it. He holds on to it.

Some believe that the cause of the present loss of confidence started when the President quarrelled with the United States Steel Corporation. That is not so. It started much earlier, as a study of stock prices will show.

The method of collecting the income tax has become so brutal that men are discouraged by the invasion of their private lives and the unbelievable amount of time consumed in answering wasteful and often stupid questionnaires. Because there are a comparatively small number of thieves who cheat, everybody has to be penalized by an indecent withholding tax which is a sign that a democratic government does not trust its own citizens to be truthful. The American people are an honest people. Generally speaking, they do not cheat. They did not cheat before the withholding tax was instituted. Since then, those who wish to cheat have found ways of doing it. They have transferred their money to European and and other countries. It is so easy to do. The fact that the Treasury is incompetent and does not find these manipulators is no reason for penalizing the whole American people and causing them to lose con-

President Kennedy would be wise to have an impartial body make a study of the causes of lack of confidence-utilizing a body, organized like the Hoover Commission, whose task forces did much splendid work, as the President knows because one of the most capable men on this Commission was his father; his brother, the Attorney General, worked for the Hoover Commission and the President, as Senator, introduced some of its measures in Congress.

The lines of battle for the drawn. And if the pre-Primary General Election have been runoff is any indication of things to come, folks in Monroe County are in for a wild-west hooting and tooting campaign in the Bitter political enemies were made in the Primary. Some wounds may never be healed. Candidates on both sides cut deep into their foes. And if the aspirant for office didn't get in the act a subordinate took up the cudgel.

However, politics is a funny game. A man who was yesterday's enemy often times turns into tomorrow's buddy. However on this score we'll have to wait and see. It could be a long linger too.

Tuesday the Republicans of Monroe County nominated Gerald Snyder, a school teacher by trade, to face incumbent Democratic representative Van D. Yetter. Snyder bucked GOP county chairman Parke Unangst in pre-Primary campaign manuevering and before edging Clifford Heller in Tuesday's duel.

Snyder won over stiff opposition. But apparently his "new blood" theme was liked better by the voters.

Yetter piled up a big mar-gin over Floyd Butz, the former Register and Recorder. Butz had to contend with "underneath" party opposition, plus Yetter's sound angle of experience in the State House

Butz, claiming a lone wolf role, hoped to get his support from the self-tagged "free thinking" Democrat. But this was not enough to dig into the well - knit organization established by Yetter over a threeterm period.

It will be interesting to see how the bell rolls the next months as both Snyder and Yetter make their pitch for whole-hearted party support.

The Primary indicated that the Republicans are split in thinking. Unangst and Snyder proved this in pre-election settos. Whether the men behind the scenes can get remold the battered pieces only time will tell.

The same holds true on the Democratic side. Yetter, by his outstanding vote, proved he is the party's standard-bearer. Whether his membership wishes to re-analyze the hand on the wall remains to be seen.

Unangst told The Daily Record last night that he spoke to Snyder yesterday and told him that he was backing him (Snyder) along with every candidate on the Republican ticket 100 per cent in the November Elec-

However, it should be a dandyhard-fought campaign from now until November. Whether the incisions of the primary will be allowed to heal only Yetter and Snyder hold the answer.

this region expect jobs this year to not be any tuiton fee. be more plentiful than last. None expect any decline. Most colleges report that there are more firms and schools recruiting on campus aircraft, accounting, chemical (particularly pharmaceutical), and data processing firms, teacher-seekers, along with all levels of government, are among the more active recruiters. But many other industries are represented as well, so that this year's college graduates have a wider choice of jobs than last year's graduates

Generally, recruiters have more openings to fill, covering a greater range of jobs than last year. Salaries are expected to rise slightly, probably about 2.5 percent. As in other years, placement directors unanimously reported great competition by firms for graduates in the upper half of the class. All this adds up to a healthy well rounded job market.

While the number of available jobs have increased, the number Robert Heller of graduating students is also increasing. The 1962 college graduat- Services Held ing classes are expected to be the largest in history. The proportion FUNERAL services for Robert graduate school.

The imposing structure is a wellplanned, contemporary, self-contained complex, the main elements of which are the chapel, chaplain's apartment, entrance foyer, classroom wing, visiting parlors, ining areas, recreation areas, dormitories, infirmary, laundry, offices and storage areas. The facilities are accommodated on various building levels carefully fitted to the slopes of the ground and orientated to take advantage of the many pleasant views.

The dominating element of the "H" form plan is a beautiful chapel with ample space for seating 440 persons, of which 30 seats are on a balcony level. The chapel is complete in every detail, and includes a pipe organ built by one of the leading organ builders of the world, with every detail custom designed for the chapel. The

This will treat 90 sq ft. when applied with sprinkling can.

Fill with clean soil and reseed the grass or use sod from a disease-free area, Of course, if the entire lawn is infected with fairy rings, this method of control isn't practical. Fairy rings seldom appear in a lawn that's fed properly A weak lawn is more susceptible than a well-fed one.

WOOD SHAVINGS: Are those chips from a wood chipping machine suitable for a mulch? Indeed, if someone wants to give you some, they can be harnessed to mulch your roses, evergreens and other woody shrubs. As with sawdust, you must fortify them with some form of nitrogen such as is found in liquid plant food, or you can add a cupful of nitrate of soda per bushel.

If you object to the coarseness of wood chips, add some peatmoss, cocoabean shells, buck wheat hulls or other materials over the coating of wood chips. Chips can also be used to mulch tomatoes and other plants in the vegetable garden

There's nothing can cure a case of sentimental vapors quicker than being sleepy and on this day-afterelection I was observing you, not fondly, but with a jaundiced eye. A vote of less than half of the registered voters is a pretty shameful record.

About half way through the election night shenanigans in the office I decided that more people were calling up to find out who won than had voted.

I was all set to tee off on all your besetting sins until I read the mail and was somewhat mollified. Actually they are mostly sins of omission rather than commission. There are times when I think it might be heaven to stay at home all day every day. But I'll tell you this much, after awhile I'm sure I'd miss the excitement of working at Wyckoff's. Not many moments are dull,

The other morning my telephone rang (it rang the entire day my first day back, come to think of it!) and Mr. Wyckoff Sr., voiced a request that set me rocking for a moment. "I'd like you," he said, "to find me some English speaking person who also speaks Bulgarian." It seems that the United Presbyterian Church World Service Committee had brought to this country a young man, Bulgarian by birth, whom Mr. Wyckoff had located at Sunny Brook, the beautiful Baptist camp near Bushkill. Everyone there is delighted with him . . . but the big difficulty is that he wishes to talk to them and his employers wish to talk with him, but communication is impossible. Believe me, finding an interpreter here in the Poconos is like looking for a needle in a haystack . . even with the assistance of our local educators. As of this writing, Mr. Wyckoff, Mrs. Wyckoff, the Walter Wyckoffs, and Amy Eilenberger are in Mexico, but I'm still here looking for a linguist with at least a passing knowledge of Bulgarian. If I find one, maybe Papa will reward me with the Legion of Honor or a silver dollar. If I don't . . . well, I don't give up easily. If you can help, please call me. I'm really anxious to help this young man. As a woman I have a very sincere understanding of what it would mean to be unable to talk.

Heaven forbid! What with Papa and Walter away; Holt, our President, at a church meeting in Colorado; and Bill Wells at a conclave. Peter Wyckoff is filling several executive chairs in addition to his own . . . and almost the first thing that happened was the addition of a long table to my office furnishings. Bob Igler and he were moving it in the other morning just as I arrived from the radio

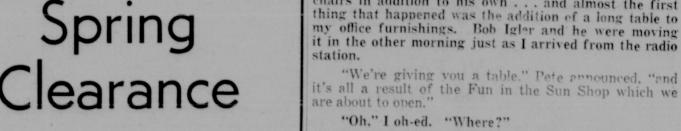

"We're giving you a table." Pete announced, "and

"Down back of the toy store," Pete said. I did some quick thinking, but couldn't quite figure how a table taken from the second floor employees' lounge and moved into a second floor office could possibly have anything to do with a new shop opening on the first floor. But it does . . . because this table was moved HERE to make room in the lounge for a new settee that had been THERE in space that will soon be devoted to all types of fancy beach accessories. Like Einstein's theories, anything is understandable if pursued far enough. In the meantime, join me in watching for the appearance of our new Sun and Fun Shop. Sounds as stunning as it is sunning!

B-r-o-THER! If ever you wish to know whether something you write or say is being read or heard, all you need do is comment upon something controversial. One listener, who was visiting the Poconos, even wrote from New York to tell me she is furious at me for admitting on the air that, while I like our Ben Casey- type fashions, he himself leaves me cold. What's more, says my listener, she is not over forty and is not romantically interested in the doctor, but still thinks his sickroom manner is highly professional and admirable, and that as a resident he has a perfect right to argue with other doctors and head nurses.

My reading and listening friends have a right to argue with me too . . . it's rather fun. But if ever I wear a Ben Casev blouse (and I'd like to) I'll wear it while watching DR. KILDARE.

Its reliability is probably its greatest single asset

When you build a quality truck, the inclination is to run around asking users what they think of it. We do quite a bit of this.

It's a funny thing. You'd think people would talk mostly about the mechanical features of the vehicle-the good ride, its power, the double-wall construction, cab comfort, or tough tailgate.

These things get comment, of course, but they're consistently outnumbered by expressions of satisfaction with the dependability of a Chevrolet truck. Its greatest single asset seems to be the fact that it does its job well day after day without a lot of fuss or attention-and that's what impresses people the most.

Quality is the key to reliability. The next time you have to buy a truck, call your Chevrolet dealer and make your money go farther.

RACING PROJECT - The above architects conception represents the planned grandstands as well as the office building and racing headquarters for the proposed multi-million dollar Pocono Mountains International Raceway. Planned by Racing Incorporated, the automotive racing center would be the first major multi-purpose racing facility in the Northeastern United States. It is expected to be comparable to such well known speedways as Daytona and Indianapolis. Designed by the L. P. Kooken Co., New Oxford, it will be built at Blakeslee on Route 115. The project will cost an estimated $41/2 million.

Anglo-American Rebellion

By J. M. ROBERTS Associated Press News Analyst | France lacks the people, the space Charles de Gaulle continues his and the industrial capacity either rebellion against the Anglo-American monopoly of control over the nuclear defenses of Europe and terrent. against any thought of changing the Allied position in Berlin.

The French president staged what appears to have been a carefully arranged press conference Tuesday, with pat answers pre-pared for a set of questions after a brief preliminary statement. You have to search beneath the surface for much that is new, and even then you find little.

Unfortunately for the aging De Gaulle, his voice could barely be heard against the beating of tom toms in Southeast Asia, He still seems to be relying upon misconceptions about French power and what it might produce.

"Disengagement"

To oversimplify, he now classes the dissolution of the French empire as a "disengagement" so that France can concentrate on development of her own strength, par ticularly nuclear strength, for a return to great power status.

He publicly confesses the right of the United States, a point on which President Kennedy seems to be adamant, to conduct exploratory negotiations with the Communists over Berlin, but reaffirms his entente with West Germany against giving these negotiations any substance. Berlin's status has been established once, he says, by the World War II victors, and no change is required or desirable.

In that he is supported by a considerable nonofficial opinion in Britain and the United States, but not in the White House or London.

Where De Gaulle gets on the most questionable ground is his thought that, if France can have rent, she will become once more, automatically, a great power.

First, one requirement for classification as a great power is national unity, which France does not have and has not had for many years.

There is also a suspicion in some quarters that despite the

This is particularly so since the United States is moving into adjoining Thailand with a combat force of about 5,000 men and planes.

Unexploited

Sudden Pathet Lao thrusts, backed by the North Vietnamese, have thrown the royal Laotian army into panic several times in the past. The attacks have always been local and unexploited. Last week while the royal army
